Bryanna L. Greenwood focuses her practice on the defense of medical malpractice actions. Prior to joining Martin, Magnuson, McCarthy & Kenney, Bryanna was a judicial intern at the Middlesex County Superior Court, assisting the Honorable Judges Camille F. Sarrouf, Jr. and Christopher K. Barry-Smith in civil litigation matters before the court. She also was a legal intern at Veteran's Affairs Office of General Counsel, assisting in the defense of the Agency in employment and healthcare related matters. Before joining MMM&K as an associate, Bryanna was a law clerk at the firm. During her time at Suffolk University Law School, Bryanna was a staffer and then continuity editor on the Journal of Health and Biomedical Law, where she authored a note discussing healthcare in aging prison populations.

Bryanna is licensed to practice in Massachusetts.
